Here and There

Indications point to a fairly early harvest in Western Canada, as the July 1st crop report of the Canadian Pacific railway agricultural department. A few points in southern Manitoba, the report added, had already started cutting wheat and barley.

Canada jumped fourth place in bacon exports to Great Britain last year, and took third place in 1932, behind Denmark, Holland and Poland. Total exports to Great Britain from Canada in May were 1,584,400 lbs., or at the rate of $6,000,000 lbs. per annum.

There were increased retail sales in Canada in May as compared with April and the index number of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics rose from 81.7 to 85.4. March figures were also shown, the increase being from 75.8 to 112.3.

A spare blue-clad figure which to thousands of passengers through Vancouver in the past seven years represented a symbol of the Canadian Pacific, will no more be seen around the wharves and terminals of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the City. Captain Robert Charles Pergawl, terminal passenger agent for the company, died there recently.

With rising prices for wool and a vast Chinese market for wheat caused partly by advantageous monetary rates, Australia is rising steadily to a more improved economic position, declared Warwick Fairfax, managing director of the Sydney Morning Herald. In a recent editorial in his paper, a traveller recently on the Canadian Australasia liner Nimrod.

Meeting at a time when the nations of the world were never so much in need of close co-operation economically and politically, the fifth biannual conference of the International Pacific Relations Council held at the Royal York Hotel, August 14-25, is regarded as a possible turning point in the affairs of all the nations bordering the Pacific.

Self-regulation of motion pictures by producers to conform to public opinion, it is believed, will ultimately render boards of censors unnecessary, predicted Mr. W. H. Haye, Czar of Hollywood, international film censor, where he arrived from a short stay at Banff and Lake Louise. Clark Gable was another movie visitor at these famous mountain resorts.

All Ontario districts, brother cities of Norman M. McPherson, Bruce, Dryden, Canadian Pacific Railway, with H. C. Grant, general superintendent of lumber, took McPherson in a personal visit to Mr. McMillan of a silver tea and coffee service, at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on the occasion of his 70th birthday. Unheralded, unrecognized and unexpected, Mrs Franklin D. Roosevelt, after an all day motor trip through French-Canadian country east of Montreal, made her triumphant entry into the American Capital and put up at the Chateau Frontenac. The wife of the President of the United States, the following day, took a motor tour of Quebec from the high seat of a cabriolet the quaint one-horse vehicles characteristic of Quebec City.

Taking Over the Limit.

Fishing operations up at Sandy Beach is attracting a deal of attention at the present time, according to Eddie Hubbel the Boatman; the cause no doubt being the beach's nearness to Stony and the plenitude of fish in the lake. Disciples of Izark Waalton have no trouble catching their daily limit of 25 fish, in a short time.

The new fishery inspector, Mr Tsevor of Onoway, is giving this lake his careful supervision. On Friday last he had two City youths up before a local justice of the peace, on an over catch charge. They were given a minimum fine and cautioned.

This lake is said to have been stocked several years ago with jackfish and perch, and the latter have multiplied greatly.

Real Light On Russia.

So many conflicting reports as to conditions in Soviet Russia have been given to the public in recent years, and it has been so difficult to distinguish in such reports what is pure propaganda either for or against the political and economic systems now prevailing in that vast country, that people have developed the habit of shrugging their shoulders when Russia is mentioned and refusing to place reliance in much that is told them. It was, therefore, with unusual interest that delegates to the World's Grain Conference at Regina listened to the first hand knowledge which was brought to them by E. J. Stirnimann, consulting engineer of Brooklyn, Iowa, who was employed by the Soviet Government for several years in connection with its gigantic plans for the mechanization of agriculture as part of its famous five-year plan.

Mr. Stirnimann had no political axe to grind, he had no propaganda to spread. He merely told an unvarnished story to the assembled world grain experts of the situation as he personally knew it to exist in Russia. And inasmuch as agricultural development in Russia cannot but have a direct effect on agriculture in Western Canada, it is of interest and value to have Mr. Stirnimann's first-hand information.

Quoting Litvinov, Soviet Commissar of Foreign Relations, as stating at Geneva last June that "unemployment, wage cuts, and strikes were unknown in the land of the Soviet," Mr. Stirnimann commented that they were impossible in a country "where bread cards are granted only to the obedient worker." Control of the country's food supply precluded strikes, he said. There is no unemployment because the country's census takes no account of any but the workers—the unfortunate do not officially exist. There is no necessity for wage cuts for the money the government pays its workers has no value outside Russia. It is paper money and will not be honored for one nickel on a purchase abroad, or on a purchase of imported goods within Russia. Mr. Stirnimann explained.

Nevertheless there is wage-cutting in a sense, Mr. Stirnimann giving the following example: The Soviet Government floats government loans each year, requiring each worker to turn back a part of his wages for bonds. In a fair job it amounts to a month's wages, which he could use for food. The worker feels this keenly but he does not complain.

Russian workers, however, by report, always poverty stricken, as a whole today have the worst living conditions of any of the workers of the major capitalist countries in Europe. The Russian collective system, in his plodding peasant life, but protected and the reserve supplies taken from him, has no way to cope with winter's cold and the fearful winter hunger. The food supply available to Russian workers has fallen off in quantity steadily since 1928. Clothing, bedding and shoe supply are reduced to almost nothing. Housing has become more and more congested in the industrial and agricultural centres promoted by the Soviet.

Describing the system of farming, Mr. Stirnimann said farmers lived in villages going out to farm their own individual strips of land. Throwing the land into collective farms was only to obliterate the dividing lines by farming them in one unit. These collective farms were established before the State farms. The State farms were designed as models in each section for collectives and communes. Exorbitant taxes, no right to purchase, the possibility of fine as an enemy of the plan, and the promise of machinery through the government, on their collectives quickly brought 90 per cent. of the farmers into collectives in the great drives of 1930 and 1931.

A Soviet State farm is never an independent farm in the western world sense. It remains only the link in a vast network of farms, with Moscow as the centre from which emanates all plans, orders and supplies. The man in the field is not often an agriculturist nor even an engineer. The entire crop is whet.

State farms are under the direction of a resident farm superintendent. He has several assistants, all with offices and residences in the main settlements. There are directors of the institute, the experimental station, and of practical training. Each farm has a manager, a foreman, and a supervisor of growing without cost. All were specialists and did no manual labor. The administrative class grows larger and the working class relatively smaller. More and more offices are required and more desks to put in them. The working class grows from only the most remote districts and in the general interest of the work, the work force is increased. Now, in 1933, it has become necessary to drive the office class back to the farms.

Describing how everything is centralized in Moscow, how even a practical director of a State farm had to wait for orders to begin an operation on his farm, that he knew was long overdue, but which, although controlling perhaps 100,000 men, had no right to start without definite orders from Moscow, Mr. Stirnimann said:

"One question looms large in looking over the situation in this modern dictatorship. How did the government get control over a vast country and over the destiny of a heterogeneous people? The answer is simple: She got control over the food. Why? Because she got control over the means to hold her people by such a strong leash? Because the government is of the minority party, representing five to seven per cent. of the entire population. Then one wonders why do not more Russians join the Communist party and share the privileges which attend the 'party membership' in Russia today? This is the reason: the Communists are not allowed to join the Party, and of late only the children of Communists are allowed to join."

Everything, down to the smallest detail, is dictated from Moscow, and control maintained through a collection of fines, taxes and shares of crop. This is the only method of control used by any government in official circles. It is always mainly based on an increase of taxes in some particular field. This brings us to a very important consideration in a government dominated by five to seven per cent. of the population and it is this. Party Men must be kept in all the major agricultural posts, regardless of ability among 'comrades' because in these officials lies the power to control every production, every farm, every town, every city, every province and his family. Thus it is the concern of the government in appointing men to these chief posts that they are 'safe' and 'good party men.' That is the reason why Communists insist that 'politics and farm engineering cannot be separated.'

Weakening Diarrhoea Dangerous Dysentery

Diarrhoea and Dysentery do not need to run for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. Few other diseases so quickly undermine health and bring about a condition of prostration and often collapse.

Grain Deterioration

Saskatchewan Research Workers Develop Method For Treating Damp Wheat

The practical value of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference is revealed again in addresses contributed to discussion at the conference side of this mammoth gathering by Dr. R. K. Larmour, J. S. Clayton, and C. L. Wrenshall, of the laboratories of the University of Saskatchewan. These men have been experimenting with wet wheat, with a view to eliminating the development of heat and consequent deterioration of the grain before it reaches the driers at the head of the lakes.

Under rain seasons have not been a common thing in the agricultural life of prairie Canada of recent years, and yet on occasions we do get prolonged rainy spells that carry their threat to cut grain. The three Saskatchewan scientists mentioned have devised a vapor called toluene, that is said to be not inflammable in the slightest and that carries no danger to the quality of grain, but that yet effectively prevents damage from heat and moisture and in the grain consequent upon wet weather.

This would seem to represent a distinct advance in agricultural science, and that Saskatchewan men have been able to reproduce this treatment and impart it to the World's Grain Conference will be a matter of satisfaction to all citizens of this province. —Regina Leader-Post.

Maxims Of His Majesty

Rules For Life Conduct In Workroom At Buckingham Palace

An English journal in its current issue gives favorite quotations of celebrated people and shows quite clearly how many men and women whose names and deeds are known through the world fortify their lives by recalling great sayings and sentiments. This list of great people is headed by His Majesty King George and his list of quotations is worthy of being reproduced for its own sake as well as for the eminence of the one who uses it. These sentiments that hang in his workroom at Buckingham Place read:

Teach me to be obedient to the rules of the game.
Teach me to distinguish between sentiment and sentimentality, admiring and despising the other.
Teach me neither to despise nor to receive cheap praise.
If I am called upon to suffer, let me be like a well-bred beast that goes away to meet his fate.
Teach me to win if I may; if I may not, teach me to be a good loser.
Teach me neither to cry for the moon, nor to cry over spilled milk.

There is a fine philosophy of life in these various maxims. They reading enables one to understand better the wisdom and restraint and good sense and understanding usefulness of King George during his reign. Humbly folk fighting life's daily battles may find some inspiration in these maxims. They are here given to that end. —Regina Leader-Post.

Round Up Criminals

International Organization Formed To Conduct Drive On Crooks

Police of several nations organized recently in Chicago the "international world police" to chase the criminal from his haunts over the globe.

The new international organization was formed at a meeting of Canadian, American and European police officials attending conference sponsored by Barron Collier, special deputy police commissioner of New York, the international police conference of chiefs of police. Winnipeg was represented by Chief Chris H. New-ton.

Many thousand foreign residents in Chile are affected by a new law stipulating that 95 per cent. of all factory and office workers must be of Chilean nationality. Many will have to leave the country to seek work elsewhere. If the foreigner has been in the country 10 years, or is married to a Chilean, he will be exempt if he is performing duties for which a native is unskilled.

United States And European Radio Programs To Be Heard Over Canadian Stations

Canadian radio listeners will hear over Canadian stations outstanding United States and European radio programmes as a result of arrangements completed between the Canadian radio broadcasting commission and the big broadcasting companies of United States—National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia broadcasting system.

These arrangements were concluded in New York by Thomas Maher, vice-chairman of the commission. In return for the American programmes, which are to be supplied to the commission for its national network, the commission is to supply the American companies with some of its popular programmes for broadcasting throughout United States. Announcement of the arrangement was made Friday at the commission's meeting.

Programmes to come to the commission from the United States include grand opera, from the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, and the concerts of the New York Philharmonic orchestra. The American broadcasting companies are also to supply programmes of their own creation in which famous singers and orchestras will be employed.

In addition to supplying the commission with American programmes, the United States broadcasting companies are to make available to the commission the broadcasts of important events and other features which they bring across the Atlantic from Great Britain and the continent.

As the programmes will be carried on the commission network to stations in all parts of Canada, reception difficulties in connection with them will be overcome.

The exchange of programmes is a co-operative step and is without cost to the commission.

The United States end of the exchange will commence about October 1.

Over Twelve Million Chinese Living Abroad

Population In Canada Is Given As Forty-Five Thousand

Chinese agitators against the so-called foreign imperialism never tell their listeners the magnitude of China's communities in other countries. However, the Chinese overseas affairs commission announce that 12,786,172 of their people reside in the United States and elsewhere beyond China.

Out of 22 nations or groups of nations listed, the United States ranks fourteenth in number of Chinese residents, the total being 74,954.

Burma ranks well ahead with 3,

450,000 Chinese, while Siam with 2,

500,000 is second and Malaysia is third with 2,000,000. In Dutch East Indies there are 1,233,856, in Korea 915,000, in Hong Kong 825,645, in Indo-China 480,000, in Formosa 340,000, in Soviet Russia 300,000.

Mexico, which is rapidly becoming the graveyard of Chinese settlers, is listed as having 120,000 and ranks tenth in the list. However, hundreds of Chinese have just arrived back in China and more are to follow.

Macao, Cuba and the West Indies and the Philippines rank just ahead of the United States in Chinese residents. Following thereafter in decreasing proportions come Australia and the South Seas Islands, Canada with 45,000, Peru and Latin America, Honolulu, Japan with 25,963, South Africa, Panama and Central America with 25,000 and Europe with but 15,000 Chinese.

A young man who had suddenly inherited a fortune decided to learn how to carry himself in society. He went to a school of deportment, and a bowing Frenchman begged him to enter.

"Do you give lessons in deportment?" inquired the young man.

"The best, m'sieu!" quashed the proprietor. "My system is perfect. Two weeks ago a young man—like you, m'sieu—he took only three of my lessons in deportment—and yesterday he was deported."

Retire Civil Servants

Order Passed To Retire Those Who Have Passed Age Of 65 Years

Pursuant to the government's efforts to reduce the cost of public service by an amount estimated in the budget speech last March to reach $14,000,000, the government in council passed an order providing for the retirement of civil servants who have reached or may reach the age of 65 years.

This is only one of the methods being adopted by the government in its economic efforts and the number of employees concerned is estimated at about 1,500 throughout Canada. Those retired will receive their superannuation allowances as provided under statute, and if not contributors to any retirement fund, will be given bonuses amounting to two months' salary for each two years they have been in the service up to a maximum of six months' salary.

Something New In Oil Wells

Has Been Producing Pure Vaseline For Ten Years

A freak oil well which came in ten years ago as a producer of almost pure vaseline is still pumping the heavy golden substance and paying its owner at Lamar, Oklahoma, handsome returns.

Perhaps the only well of its kind in the world, the well is a marvel to veteran oil men, both as to the oil it produces and its life. Men who have followed the oil industry in many climes said they never have seen or heard of a similar well.

The well was drilled in at 3,710 feet on Jan. 26, 1923, for production estimated at 350 barrels a day. The "vaseline well" still produces around this amount and still is the only well in the area. Other drilling attempts have produced dry holes.

The strange kind of oil flowed over the derrick 200 feet when the well was drilled in. Dark green in color, the oil turned a brilliant golden yellow when it struck the outside air. Analysis showed it to be 100 per cent pure vaseline. It was so heavy that it hung from fences near the well like gum.

Because of its thickness ordinary pipe lines would not carry it. A special line, with a steam pipe to heat the almost solid lubricant, was used to move the product.

New Guide For Airship

Pilot Can Leave Cockpit Without Endangering Craft Or Self

After two years of experiments, the "airboat," a compact boat 10 feet square and weighing less than 50 pounds, was perfected to take complete charge of an airship after it hops off.

Enclosed in a metal box, the automatic pilot would guide the ship to any predetermined height, level off and start on a charted course without a human pilot touching the controls.

Gyroscopically controlled and hydraulically operated, the device includes an automatic turn control, and automatic climb lever and a descent control. The human pilot can leave the cockpit for any length of time during actual flight without endangering the flight.

One of the airboats now in use in a passenger aeroplane of a well-known air line. The machines average 180 miles an hour on a transcontinental jaunt.

The device does not dispense with the services of the pilot or co-pilot. Pilots are required to take off and land the aeroplanes and to keep a close check on weather soundings.

The wings of a common house fly vibrate 330 times a second.

Week In Civilization

Enough For Trapper

Makes No Apologies For Desire To Return To Northland

A week in civilization is enough for Range Jim, one of the best known trappers in the far north, in Prince Albert recently on his annual jaunt into the land of automobiles and depression.

He left again for Big River where he planned to push off his big canoe and paddle his way to his trapping grounds in the Hatchet Lake country, 400 miles from Flin Flon, Manitoba. He and his dog followed the waterway to Flin Flon from their northern home, shipped the canoe to Big River, spent four days in Prince Albert, and then away again.

He was a visitor at Prince Albert last summer and promised to go back next year. Civilization has its attractions but the hardy trapper makes no apologies for his desire to get back to the land of trees and water.

Listening to his stories of experiences and looking at the wonderful collection of snapshots of his outfit, his fur catch and of the scenic wonder of the northland, makes the desire understandable.

He spoke lightly of carrying his canoe and equipment over mile portages necessitating seven trips back and forth or a total of 14 miles walking. On the round trip, there are 60 of them, though only a few are that long.

A trader in the city stated that each year Jonason comes in with the largest catch from the north. In addition to that, he is known as a "clean" trapper; his stock is always in good shape on its arrival.

Carrots Good For Cattle

Benefit Shown In Heavy and Glossy Coats

Experiments of some Chicago experts for several years have proven that the lowly carrot, favorite food of rabbits, is one of the best internal hair tonics yet discovered.

The vegetable's beneficial effects was first noticed when cattle fed on carrots. Their coats became heavy and glossy.

Experts experimented on humans, and declare the carrot diet causes noticeable improvement, but that it does not equal that of animals.

The London Daily Express carried a long interview with Robert Cromie, publisher of The Vancouver Sun, who has just returned from Russia where, he said, "life goes on just the same as it goes on in England or Canada or China. Once you get that thought in your mind, you get a new conception of Russia," he added.

The newspaper quoted Mr. Cromie as saying:

"I dined in Moscow on their Derby day. I saw 50,000 people at horse racing betting on the ponies just like they bet in England. They were having drinks and lunches, but of course, it was all on the Russian standard which is not Ascot by 20 lengths."

"But the spirit of the people was the same as any crowd in England or Canada. The tram cars of Russian cities are jammed with people. They are completing an underground system in Moscow, in 1934. I saw a crowd of 50,000 well-mannered, enthusiastic people watching a football match in Moscow. That was an eye-opener to me."

"I hear some critics say that conditions were not too bad in Moscow, but that down in the Ukraine people are starving. Someone from the Ukraine told me that the people in Moscow are starving too. Everything one hears about Russia is both true and untrue. It is time the civilized world began to sort them out."

Studying Crime Impulse

Committee In London Seeking Its Cause and Cure

A secret inquiry is being conducted by a committee in London to deal with the problem of the "uncontrollable impulse" in its relation to crime.

The committee which has held several meetings, is composed of magistrates, business men, psychologists, medical men, a K.C., and a well-known "criminal" barrister.

When the investigation is completed a report will be sent to the Home Office with suggestions on a question that year has baffled judges and doctors.

Questions relating to the treatment and punishment of offenders susceptible to "uncontrollable impulses" form the basis of the inquiry which is being conducted by men who have had opportunities of observing how it affects people in different walks of life.

Two points under consideration, for instance, are:

How far, if at all, should a person be punished for an offence committed under an uncontrollable impulse?

Can that impulse be checked in youth, or eradicated if allowed to persist?

The investigation which, it is believed, may prove of considerable importance in criminal jurisprudence, developed on the subject of kleptomania.

A woman in high social position had been charged with stealing from a London store, and the plea of "uncontrollable impulse" was raised in mitigation.

The activities of the committee, however, are not limited to considering the problem as it affects shoplifting. They realize that while the impulse takes that form in one case, there is a great variety of forms—many of them leading to very serious offences.

Experience gained by the members in their different capacities has been placed before the inquiry, and some illuminating information relating to cases and treatment has been collected.

Prompt and Efficient

Member Of Detroit Automobile Club Tells Good Story

Depression or no depression, some American organizations continue to give prompt and efficient service. Take the case of the Detroit Automobile Club. A friend of ours who is a member of it thus writes:

"I had a little car smash recently, and presently received a letter from two lawyers demanding that I pay $225 for damages to the other car. As I felt the accident was not my fault, I sent the letter to the automobile club, and the next day both lawyers were struck by lightning. Personally, I think that is carrying things too far, but I suppose the automobile club knows what it is doing."

U. S. PRESIDENT APPROVES LARGE NAVAL PROGRAM

Hyde Park.—President Roosevelt has approved plans of the United States navy for construction of 21 new war ships in the $238,000,000 building program.

The president carefully analyzed the bids recently received by the navy and the allotments decided on by the commanders. His approval signalled an immediate start on work providing jobs for thousands in government and private shipyards.

Admiral William Standley, chief of naval operations, and Rear Admiral Emery Land, chief of construction, brought the naval construction program to the summer White House by seaplane.

Mr. Roosevelt talked the plans over with his naval chieftains and after giving his approval left with them the formal announcements of assignments to yards for construction of the ships.

The start of America's huge naval construction comes just after word from Japan of the start of a building program there.

Mr. Roosevelt's ship building plan comes under the public works program, and is intended to give the American fleet the strength it allowed under existing naval limitations agreements.

Both Republicans and Democrats in congress have urged that the American fleet be built up to the terms allowed by the London agreement.

About $46,000,000 is to be expended this year and a total of $238,000,000 over three years.

Blames Newspapers

Code Of Ethics Needed In Treatment Of Crime News

Chicago.—A special code of ethics for treatment of crime news by newspapers as an aid to law enforcement officials was asked by Malcolm W. Bingay, editorial director of the Detroit Free Press.

Addressing the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Bingay placed partial responsibility for the rise of the gangster upon what he termed the "sensational, irresponsible and scandal mongering element of the press."

The element, he declared, had served as publicity agent for the criminal.

Mergers Better Than Combines

Toronto, Ont.—"The day must never come when we have a combine, but a merger is different thing," Mayor W. J. Stewart of Toronto told the Funeral Service Association of Ontario in convention here. BRITAIN'S AIR MINISTER BECOMES A PILOT

Lord Londonderry, British Secretary of State for Air, evidently believes in practising what he preaches. Two weeks ago he gained his "A" certificate for flying and a week previous his second daughter, Lady Margaret Stewart, also qualified for her "A" certificate. Lord Londonderry's youngest daughter, Lady Mary Stewart, who is not yet 13, is rapidly becoming an accomplished flyer. Our pictures show Lord Londonderry in the cockpit of his plane and inset is a photograph of Lady Margaret.

Loan Easily Subscribed

Fine Reception Accorded Canadian Loan On London Market

London, Eng.—The most optimistic expectations were borne out when the lists for the new Canadian loan of £15,000,000 were closed directly after they had been opened.

It was understood, although not officially announced, that the first mail of the day had brought a substantial over-subscription.

The enthusiastic reception accorded the first Canadian loan on the London money market in 20 years was fully up to the welcoming comments of financial authorities after announcement of the loan last week, summed up by financial correspondents of the daily newspapers who called today "Canada's day."

Success of the loan will promote the financial co-operation between London and Ottawa "which is necessary if the policy of last week's empire declaration is to be made effective," said the Times.

That declaration called for closer financial relationships with stability of exchange and directly preceded the re-entry of the Dominions into the London loan market.

Todays loan was in four per cent bonds, due at par in 20 and 25 years. The price will not go outside the empire, but it is understood they will be paid up to unconverted victory bonds of 5% per cent redeemable this fall.

Calgary, Alberta.—Judy frost attacks on the High River-Blackleg area of Southern Alberta has injured 30,000 tons of wheat, which will now be used as cattle feed, it was revealed at a meeting of farmers and ranchers here.

The meeting, attended by Hon. George Headley, Alberta Minister of Agriculture, was held to ascertain facts in the district.

Drought has seriously affected the district and plans were being made to solve the feed problem. The fall with the aid of the cabinet minister who declared there was grave danger cattle would be sacrificed by holders during the coming months less something was done about the situation.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO OLD TIMERS OF THE WEST

Prince Albert—"The real makers of a nation," to quote Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, passed before cheering thousands at the fair here. Men and women, some in their 80s, dressed in black, with grey hair, skins tanned by the sun, and wind and shoulders bowed by toil, walked by the grandstand in the "old timers" parade, feature of Prince Albert fair. Ninety years had passed over the heads of a few, years in which they had seen man take possession of the prairie; had seen settlements grow swiftly up out of the plains and expand into stirring western cities. Some were in their prime when the Riel rebellion shook the frontier district. They had served at Batoche, and Duck Lake, knew those stormy days and knew Riel.

The parade, in which veterans of the prairies who had lived in this district for more than 40 years were eligible to take part, drew from Mr. King words of admiration. In his speech opening Citizens' Day, the Liberal leader referred to "the splendid band of old timers—pioneers in settlement and government, who have helped to build up Canada."

This is the golden anniversary of the Prince Albert fair. Today it drew to the platform men prominent in the life of the province and the Dominion. With Mr. King were: Sir Frederick Haultain, Chief Justice of Saskatchewan; Hon. J. F. Bryant, Minister of Public Works in the government of the province; T. C. Davis, a former attorney-general, and Charles Young, president of the Prince Albert Agricultural Society.

The Liberal leader expressed regret that the death of his mother had prevented Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan, from attending the opening.

Introduced as "one of the outstanding real old timers of the west," Sir Frederick Haultain paid a tribute to the pioneer women of Saskatchewan. "We take off our hats to the old timers, but we take them off and keep them off to the women," he said.

Mr. Bryant, representing Premier Anderson, followed with the greetings of the government and people of Saskatchewan. He "expressed his pleasure at being on the same platform with the leader of the Liberal party. Some interesting facts about pioneer people of Prince Albert were told to the gathering by Mr. Bryant. Mr. Young introduced the speaker.

Then followed the parade. As the "old timer" marched by those on the platform rose in tribute to the great crowd in the stands. The pioneers smiled as a cheer arose. A tribute to their achievement for Canada.

Wheat Pool Payment

Further Payment May Be Made In Alberta

Edmonton, Alberta.—Possibility exists a further payment may be made to wheat pool members on the 1930 crop if present increased wheat prices continue, according to Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta.

Mr. Brownlee said the pool, which handled the crop under the guidance of John I. McFarland, of Winnipeg, may show a profit due to wheat values' jump recently. "There would seem to be good reason for using such profits by way of partial equalization, at least, of payments on the 1930 crop," the Alberta premier added.

No Paroles For Rod Riders

Alberta Relief Commission Chairman Would Send Men To Relief Camps

Calgary, Alberta.—Efforts by A. A. Mackenzie, Alberta relief commission chairman to have paroles granted to rod-riders serving terms in Fort Saskatchewan jail, have failed. Alberta attorney-general's department has turned down Mr. Mackenzie's request.

The Alberta relief commission chairman had suggested vagrants convicted of stealing rides on trains should be sent to single jobless relief camps if they wished to go, while those refusing the offer should serve out their terms.

Occasional Wife

By EDNA ROBB WEBSTER
Author of "JORETTA", "LIPSTICK GIRL", etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful student in an art school, unconsciously sketches a boy in a drawing class and when she is supposed to be drawing a Grecian urn. The professor, looking at her sketch, embarrasses Camilla by having Peter, the boy who had seen her sketched, criticize her work before the class. Afterwards Camilla goes to the park outside to cry. It turns out to be Peter, who arrives for his action and consoles her. Camilla secretly adores him. He makes a date to see her that evening but is astonished when she names an expensive night club. This is beyond his means but he resolves to go through with it.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER III.

"Good evening, sir," said the butler. "Good evening," Peter replied. "I'm Mr. Anson, calling for Miss Hoyt."

"Yes, sir. Come right in, sir." Peter stepped into the cavernous hall. He hoped that he wouldn't have to meet the family. His apprehensions were relieved at once by a familiar voice from above. "Bates is that Mr. Anson?"

"Yes, Miss Camilla." His austere voice implied his disapproval of her unconventionalities.

"Tell him I'll be right down."

"Yes, Miss Camilla." He turned solemnly to Peter as if he had come a long way with the message. "Miss Hoyt will be right down sir."

Peter grinned. "So I heard."

"Yes, sir!" Bates inclined his torso slightly, straightened, and marched away stiffly.

Camilla fluttered down the broad stairway like a brilliant flower. Diaphanous folds of soft bright yellow swirled from below a snug little bod-those generous persons who would give up anything he had to anyone who happened to need it more."

Her reply was misleading, but after a fleeting hesitation, he let it go at that. "Do I look that easy?" he demanded.

"Awful things that don't mean much to you. And I guess that maternal pronouncements don't."

"Well, that's better. Anyway, there are only a few things that mean a lot to me. Everything else is just accessories."

"Sculpture is one of them," suggested Camilla.

"It is several of them, and that's about all I can consider for awhile."

"I hope they will," his voice was lower. "But they might have to wait a long time. Trouble of it is, life is too short. We need to do everything at once, and if we don't, we soon discover it's too late to begin."

"What—for instance?"

"Whatever a man's ambitions are. And sometimes we even outgrow them, waiting to realize them. A person can miss a thing he wants to do for so long that he finally discovers he doesn't care about doing it any more. You hold an ambition when you're a long time then when you finally catch up to it, you discover that in the process of growing to it, you have gone beyond it in experience. That is especially true of minor ambitions. Even think about that?"

"No," Camilla replied. "I never thought much about anything until recently, and I've been so all mixed up that I haven't arrived anywhere yet."

He laughed indulgently. "Oh, well, why should a girl like you try to nize Peter, but he knew Camilla and ushered them to a choice table with obsequious bowing. That required a generous tip. Peter reflected. They were just seated when Cathie and her escort rushed up to greet them. There was nothing for Peter to do but invite them to make a foursome. Terry Wayne, it appeared, welcomed the idea because it gave him an opportunity to dance with Camilla. Peter guessed that she could go places and do things with Terry any time she wished. But she was not too gracious to him, he also noted with satisfaction.

Peter marvelled at the way she danced. It was no mystery why any man would want her for a partner. He hadn't given much time to such pleasant recreation, and he appreciated the idea because it gave him an opportunity to dance with Camilla. Peter guessed that she could go places and do things with Terry any time she wished. But she was not too gracious to him, he also noted with satisfaction.

Peter decided that this was an excellent opportunity to enter the inner circle. If he could get Cathie and Terry to think what it would be like if he sought personal approval. He only desired success. But he knew that the two were inseparable. It was evident that he could command the former without the latter, however Camilla resented the way Cathie Harris and Lillian Boring flirted with Peter and let him know that he would be welcomed into their set at any time. She wondered if Peter knew—and led him away.

She had not wanted to see the dazzling, extravagant revue, but it was thrilling to sit close beside Peter in the dimly-lighted theatre and look up to feel his eyes and lips close to hers when they exchanged murmured comments.

The splendor of the stage, the swaying velvet curtains, the gowns and jewels and suave luxury of the audience oppressed her. It might be so different, if—

But Camilla resolved that such thoughts should not mar this perfect evening. Perhaps never again would she have the exquisite joy of being close to Peter, alone with him, his eyes caressing her at every glance. She must tell him the truth. Of all the people in the world with whom she wanted to be fair—it was Peter, even if she never saw him again.

Her friends sought them in the lounge during the intermission. Cathie insisted that they join her party in their box, but Peter refused.

This was her evening, with Peter, and she was determined that no one should interfere. Peter wondered, uncomfortably, if she were reluctant to join her friends because she was ashamed of him. But whatever her reason might be, he was grateful to return with her after the intermission to their own seats, for which he had paid the extravagant sum of $6.60. That was the price for sitting beside Camilla for three hours, but it was worth it, when he had it. In the two months since he had discovered Camilla Hoyt in Professor Drake's class, he had never dared hope to be so near her.

He was anxious for her pleasure. "Do you like the show?"

She was anxious to reassure him. "Very much. Don't you?"

"Sure," he agreed, but was thinking how much it had cost him and wondering how he would recover the loss. The show wasn't worth it, but being with Camilla compensated for any loss.

At the last curtain, he asked, "Did you say you liked the Maddox?"

"Wherever you wish to go."

"That's okay with me, too," he said easily, but he never had been there before.

The captain waiter did not recognize Peter, but he knew Camilla and ushered them to a choice table with obsequious bowing. That required a generous tip. Peter reflected. They were just seated when Cathie and her escort rushed up to greet them. There was nothing for Peter to do but invite them to make a foursome. He was anxious for her pleasure. "Do you like the show?"

She was anxious to reassure him. "Very much. Don't you?"

"Sure," he agreed, but was thinking how much it had cost him and wondering how he would recover the loss. The show wasn't worth it, but being with Camilla compensated for any loss.

At the last curtain, he asked, "Did you say you liked the Maddox?"

"Wherever you wish to go."

"That's okay with me, too," he said easily, but he never had been there before.

Watch your way there as a cautious traveller, and do not be loath at the mountain, or by the river in the distance and saying "How shall I ever pass them?" Keep straight to the present little inch that is before you, and accomplish in the little moment what belongs to it alone. British Plan To Use Planes For Work In Labrador

An ambitious scheme to provide air transportation to the gold mining camps in the interior of Labrador, is announced by Major Christopher Draper, known as the "Mad Major" on account of his daring air exploits during the war.

Major Draper said a 400-ton yacht had been acquired to leave England with a fleet of aeroplanes, one of which will be a bullion carrier. The yacht will sail to a base on the Labrador coast where a camp will be established. From this point the aeroplanes will operate on a regular schedule carrying supplies and passengers.

Glad To Risk Life

Newspapers hailed General Italio Balbo's reception here as second only to the greeting that Col. Lindbergh got when he returned from his Paris flight. Perhaps 700,000 people cheered Balbo as he paraded. The Italian community gave Balbo and his 96 supporters a dinner and heard him say: "We Italian flyers think that life is a poor gift if we cannot risk it every day for the greater glory of our country."

Arab Ladies Do Not Travel

Arab ladies have not yet learned the habit of travel which is why King Faisal left his Queen at home when he journeyed to England. She is his cousin, and they have a twenty-year-old son and three daughters.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michael

O VIOLIN!

O violin, sing them away,
The cares that vexed my heart today!
The hope that went unsatisfied,
The shining dream that was denied,

The long-sought goal I failed to win,
For these give solace, violin!

Deep, deep your throbbing tones can reach

And bring my rebel spirit teach

The causes I have failed to see,

The truths that were obscure for me,

O violin, sing, sing on,

Till all the bitterness is gone!

Lead me along the path to peace,

Frost my hard bondage lend release!

With notes supremely clear and sweet

Free me of memories of defeat.

O violin, sing on again,

Till life has not one fret or stain!

The Liberal Meeting on Saturday Evening Proves a Big Success

A Record Crowd in Moose Hall
Listens to a Series of Very Interesting Speeches by Prominent Politicians.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held by the Stony Plain Liberal Association last Saturday night. After the reading of the minutes a motion was passed that a letter of condolence be sent to Mrs R E McLaughlin. A discussion as to finances followed, and it was decided there should be a membership fee of 50c, and before the meeting broke up nearly twenty membership fees were paid.

The first speaker was the Hon. Charles Stewart, member for West Edmonton. Mr Stewart outlined the work of the recent session of the Federal House, referring to it as the most futile session he had attended. He pointed out that the Ottawa Conference had not resulted in any appreciable reduction of the tariffs, and that as a result of Mr Bennett's policy of buying nothing abroad that can be made at home, the world markets had been virtually closed against our agricultural products. As a result also customs duties had fallen and new taxes, as that on sugar, had to be imposed, all of which was increasing the burden on the poorer classes.

Mr Stewart then outlined the position of the National Debt and the C.N.R. Later he dealt with the C.C.F., referring to it as Socialism pure and simple, and stated that, altho the present system needed many changes and improvements, to overthrow the whole system would only lead to utter chaos.

After Mr Stewart's address the new executive was elected, the following taking office:

President—George J Bryan
Vice-president—William McLeod

Secretary-treasurer—Mrs R E Wood

Executive for Stony Plain—O G Wudel, J A Willie, M McKinlay, H Miller. For Spruce Grove—Dan Brox, W Bristow, T Wudel, E Pinchbeck. For Dufield—Oaf Ohlsen, H Tyrell, A Schnell, G Akins.

The election of the Executive from Wabamun and Winterburn was left till meetings could be held in these districts.

Mr W R Howson then addressed the meeting, covering the field of Provincial Politics. Mr Howson first pointed out that the present Government had not carried out one of the promises it had made in 1921. It had promised economy, no caucuses, a full 5 year term, Provincial bank; none of which had ever been fulfilled. Mr Howson claimed that there was a great deal of departmental duplication; for example when he was in Kitchener there had been nine government officials there. Mr Howson claimed that every government department needed overhauling particularly that of Public Works presided over by Hon. O. L. McPherson. He stated that out of fifty contracts only nine had been let by tender; or, in other words, $1,000,000 worth of contracts had been let without competitive bidding. It was significant that the highest price paid for loose rock on one contract let by tender was 35¢ per yard; yet on the first contract let without a tender the price was 52¢, which later contract was let to a friend of Hon. Perrin Baker. On the Carvel road $20 per acre was paid for clearing and $25.00 extra for grubbing where the clearing was heavy... Despite these prices paid by the Government the engineers said that 40 per cent could be done with a scythe, and as a matter of fact the man who did the clearing was paid $7.50 per acre and the contractor got the balance.

Mr Howson pointed out that nearly half the yardage moved on the Carvel-to-Ozway road had been classified as loose or solid rock and he invited his audience to travel the road and see for itself what it thought of that classification. He stated that Mr. Pyne conservative member for Red Deer who had voted against him in the house had since found that 67 acres of grubbing at $25.00 an acre had been paid for on the Alhambra road but had not been done.

Mr Howson dealt briefly with the Department of Education, which had paid $600,000 for a new Normal school which was not needed and which was now closed down. The Government was paying as much to keep this Tuesday's Runaway.

On Tuesday afternoon, while Mr Wm Groff, the Golden Spike farmer, was loading some well casings onto his hayrack alongside the Oppenbauser store, his team became frightened and bolted. Mr Groff ran for their heads but was bowled over by the wagon tongue striking him. He received several injuries, particularly to his left leg, where the horses tramped him. He was taken into the Oppenbauser store, where his injuries were attended to by Dr Walton; latter which the patient was taken to an hospital.

Hon. W. L. M. King's Visit.

Although it had been arranged to have the Rt. Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, pay Stony Plain a short visit during his trip thru the West, it has now been found that, owing to the change in the schedule, this will be impossible.

Mr King and party will reach the city at 7:30 p.m. and proceed at once to the Macdonald where the distinguished visitor will be accorded a citizens' reception in the main dining room. There will be no speeches, while it is expected that a large number of people from city and district will attend.

building as the City of Edmonton was paying for five high schools. The department of the Atty. General had paid $43,000 for legal services in one case, despite the fact that they had their own legal department; while the Dept. of Telephones was letting the system to the scrap heap. It was significant, Mr Howson stated, that while Mr McLeod, member for Stony Plain, was attending C.C.F. convention and preaching nationalization of industry, the Brownlee Government was allowing the largest nationalized utility to go to pieces, and was in fact selling out many of the lines to private concerns.

After Mr Howson concluded his speech, many of the audience gave evidence of the things they had seen in Carvel road, the bearing being general that the taxpayers had paid a terrible price for the road.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National anthem.
